community.

Defendant.

ORDER OF DETENTION

This case came on for hearing on October 24, 2016, on motion of the United States to determine whether any condition or combination of conditions set forth in 18 U.S.C. § 3142(c) will reasonably assure the appearance of the Defendant as required in this case and the safety of the

The United States relied on the report of the Pretrial Services Officer, the presumption of detainability arising from the nature of the offense and the maximum and minimum sentences, and the probable cause determination made by the Court in issuing the arrest warrant. Defendant presented additional argument but no testimony.

Based upon the evidence presented in the Pretrial Services report, which is unrebutted by Defendant, and for the reasons stated on the record in open court, the Court finds by clear and convincing evidence that no condition or combination of conditions set forth in 18 U.S.C. § 3142(c) will reasonably assure the appearance of the Defendant as required and the safety of the community. The term "safety of the community" refers to the community's security from criminal conduct by the Defendant, whether violent or not. See United States v. Vance, 851 F. 2d
